

Investigating Food and Land

1. Where does this person get their food? What is your evidence?
2. What can you say about the person(s) who left these food remains behind? What is your evidence?
3. What can you infer about the environment this person(s) food comes from?
4. What information is missing?
5. What can you not know about this person's life by studying only these remains? What other archaeological information would help you know more about this person?
